MINERS HAVE CEASED WORK

Union Miners Laid Down Picks and Shovels Monday

THE CONTRACTS EXPIRE

Central Pennsylvania District Has Agreement and Work Will Continue.

LEWIS WILL SUCCEED MITCHELL.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 31st.—The union miners in most of the coal fields of the country will lay down their picks and shovels tonight. Almost 250,000 of them will stop work in Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, and probably Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, West Virginia and Kentucky. The mining contracts under which they are now working expires at midnight and, except in Central Pennsylvania and in the Indiana block coal district, no contracts have been made nor have the miners and operators yet entered into district agreements providing for the operation of the mines after April 1st, pending agreement.

This is a possibility in the Indiana bituminous coal district, Illinois, Michigan and West Virginia. The Indiana bituminous, Western Pennsylvania and Illinois miners and operators are in joint sessions at Terre Haute, Pittsburg and Springfield.

Technically, the miners will go out on strike, but in reality they stop work because the operators, except in Indiana and Illinois, show no real intention of meeting and treating with them, though no question of wage or principle is at stake.

John Mitchell returned today and is preparing to step out of office. Congressman W. B. Wilson is back from Central Pennsylvania, where he scored the first big success in the present situation by getting the Central Pennsylvania operators and miners into an agreement. That district will continue to work.

Vice President T. L. Lewis who will succeed President Mitchell Wednesday, will announce his appointments when he takes office.

Young Burglars Held for Court.

Twelve young men were arraigned before Justice Keichline Saturday charged with being implicated in the recent petty larcenies at the club house up Spring Creek, at Snow Shoe Intersection, the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania express and mail car and Miller's hardware store. At the hearing it was learned that one young man was the ring leader of the gang and enticed the others to join him in his marauding. One of the young men, Fred Gregg, was discharged as the only thing against him was the lending of a saw to the gang that robbed the club house, but did not have any knowledge of their intentions. The others were held for court and are now boarding with Sheriff Kline.

It is beyond conjecture to know how far these young desperadoes would have carried their thieving plans had they not been apprehended at this time. It is probable that some of them will be placed where they will harm no one for awhile. Being the second offence for some they cannot plead the mercy of the court, nor can the others claim any leniency on the grounds that they were enticed by others into committing the robberies.

Woman Burned Fighting Fire

Mrs. Samuel Lietch, who lives on the divide between Howard and Romola, was seriously burned Thursday afternoon, and fears are entertained for her recovery. Some of the neighbors were burning brush and the nearby dead grass being very dry caught fire, and was burning across a field toward the Leitch home. Among those who were fighting the fire were Mrs. Leitch, and in her efforts to smother the flames in the grass her clothing caught fire. Almost before assistance could reach her the clothing was burned from her body with awful results. Dr. Kurtz of Howard, was hastily summoned and did what he could to relieve her sufferings. Mrs. Samuel Leitch died from the effects of her burns Saturday afternoon.

WILLIAM STITZER.

Resident of Howard Dies of Apoplexy Wednesday Morning.

William Stitzer, a retired farmer who resided at Howard died at his home there at 2.45 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mr. Stitzer had been ill for three days and apoplexy is attributed as the direct cause of his death.

The deceased was born in Bucks county on March 3rd, 1833, making him 75 years and 22 days of age at the time of his death. Before his removal to Howard about three years ago, Mr. Stitzer resided at Flemington, Clinton county, where he was engaged in the agricultural pursuit. Since becoming a citizen of Howard he has been living a somewhat retired life. During the Cilil war Mr. Stitzer served his county in company D, 3rd regiment Pennsylvania cavalry.

He was a member of the St. Pauls Lutheran church of Salona and lived a life consistent with his religious convictions, as well as being a man of a quiet unassuming disposition, always having due regard for others and prompt in his business obligations.

Surviving him are his wife Mrs. Lena Stitzer and following children: Mrs. George Mason, of Lock Haven; Mrs. Annie Wolfe, of Wilkinsburg; Mrs. Chester Berry, and Mrs. William Berry both of Lock Haven, and Mrs. Claude Moore, of Howard. One sister, Mrs. Steele Hunter of Bellefonte, also survives. Funeral services were held at the late home Saturday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock. Rev. Crow of Hublersburg, officiating. Interment was made at Flemington.

Large Barn Burned.

The large barn on the farm of D. L. Meek at Waddle was burned to the ground Thursday night. The fire broke out about 10 o'clock and the flames spread rapidly that only four of the eleven head of horses in the barn could be gotten out, seven of them having perished. The barn also contained about a thousand bushels of corn and a thousand or more bushels of grain. Three of the horses burned were the property of the tenant farmer, John Rockey, who had just moved into the tenant house. Several other parties who had helped Mr. Rockey move had horses in the barn at the time.

While many suggestions as to the possible cause of the fire have been given, the origin is a mystery. The loss on the barn, grain and stock is heavy, and we were unable to learn the amount of insurance carried by Mr. Meek.

Gas at Philipsburg.

The recent organization of the Allegheny Oil and Gas Co., with headquarters in this city, for the purpose of making thorough investigations, is very opportune, in view of some new and unexpected developments.

The Monarch Coal Co., engaged in putting down an artesian well at the big shaft southwest of town, at a depth of 350 feet struck a good flow of water and with this, to the surprise of everybody concerned, gas was also struck. The flow is not heavy, but sufficient to give us to believe that by going down a proper depth gas in paying quantities will unquestionably be found. These tests, of course, will be made, at an early date.

Philipsburg is surrounded by great natural resources, and the coming year will see us expending in a way to surprise the natives.—Philipsburg Journal.

None the Worse for Age.

Joseph Simon is treating his intimate friends to a trial of some tobacco that is quite antiquated, in fact, a half century old. This tobacco was put up before the war and is minus the revenue stamp, consequently it cannot be sold. The absence of the required stamp, however, does not prohibit the genial Joe from "setting 'em up" to the boys. The tobacco is pronounced by competent judges to be of a mild and delicious flavor. The weed was found amongst a lot of goods that had been set to one side years ago.—Lock Haven Democrat.

State Increases Forest Reserves

Since March 1 Pennsylvania has added 54,000 acres to its forestry reserves, chiefly in Clinton and Potter counties. The total now reaches 850,000 acres purchased or under option.

The state forestry commission is making extensive preparations for replanting these great areas, and between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 new trees are to be started this year on the state nurseries at Mont Alto, Franklin county; Greenwood Furnace, Huntingdon county, and Asaph, Tioga county.

Nurseries are to be started also in Bedford, Franklin and Potter counties.

RAILROADERS EXPLANATION

Shopmen Mostly Affected by the Present Dull Period.

RECEIPTS ARE GOOD

Fewer Cars are in Service and Less Repair Work is Needed—Prospects are Brightening.

CONDITIONS ARE ABOUT NORMAL

Monday's Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin has the following to say concerning the railroad situation at the Lumber City.

Railroad men announce that there is no evidence of depression when the passenger traffic of the railroads that enter the city is under consideration. The Pennsy, Philadelphia and Reading and New York Central roads are all enjoying a run of passenger traffic that is quite up to normal. In fact, for some days past there has been a very noticeable pick-up in the number of people coming in and going from the city, just as there has been a spring advance in freight business.

Of the local railroad men affected by retrenchments of the several roads the Philadelphia and Reading shopmen at Newberry Junction have been most extensively affected. The railroaders explain that it is a natural move for a railroad in a dull period to reduce its repair work to a minimum. There is a smaller number of cars in use than ordinarily and the repair work can, of course, be somewhat curtailed.

There appears to be confidence among local railroad men that matters will become better rather than worse than at present. The local business of the several roads is reported to have been during the past month only a few hundred dollars below that of the same month a year ago. As 1907 was a banner year, the railroad business now, while showing something of a falling off, is really just about back at normal.

Big Damage Cases.

By papers filed in the prothonotary's office at Clearfield, Friday Krebs & Liveright, the well known Clearfield attorneys, began action for damages on account of alleged discriminations by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, against their patrons. The amount of damages asked for aggregates $330,000. There are five cases in all, the prosecutors in the first case being the Walnut Coal company, who complain of being refused the right to place individual cars on the road. They want $100.000 damages. The other suits are brought for alleged discriminating in distribution of cars. The prosecutors are Puritan Coal company, damages $75,000; Steinman Coal Co., damages, $60,000; Hillman Coal & Coke Co., damages, $70,000; Clark Brothers Coal Co., Mining Co., damages, $25,000.

Waddle—Twitmire.

A very quiet wedding took place at the home of Dr. Harry Pickel at Millersville, Pa., on Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock. The contracting parties were Mr. Philip D. Waddle and Miss Eleanor Twitmire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Twitmire. The bridesmaid was Miss Marjorie McGinley and the best man was Mr. Wilbur Twitmire, bother of the bride. Rev. James B. Stein, pastor of the Methodist church performed the ceremony. After the wedding dinner was served the bride and groom departed on a wedding trip to Philadelphia, New York and Trenton. Both are very popular young people and upon their return here they will take up quarters at the Bush House, where Mr. Waddle is head clerk. They have the best wishes of their many friends.

Fire at Unionville.

The double tenant house owned by Wm. Tressler at Unionville caught fire from a defective flue Wednesday about eleven o'clock and was burned to the ground. The house was occupied by two families, Joseph Gill and William Eckenroth. Nearly all the household goods of both families were saved. The building is a total loss with but a small insurance.

JOHN WENSEL.

Curtin Township Citizen Died at His Home Saturday Evening.

John Wensel, a highly respected citizen of Curtin township died at his home about seven o'clock Saturday evening. Deceased had been ill for about 2 years and for the past four months had been confined to his bed. Death was due to stomach trouble.

Deceased was a native of Germany and was born in 1839, being about 70 years of age at the time of his death. When about four years of age he came with his parents to this country. He had resided in Curtin township all his lifetime, and engaged in farming. In 1868 he was married to Miss Mary M. Robb, who survives him.

Early in life Mr. Wensel united with the German Reformed church and was one of the "pillars of the church," being a deacon and an elder in the church at Romola. He was a man beloved by everyone with who he had acquaintance and his demise is mourned by a host of friends. By his death Curtin township has lost one of her best citizens and the church of which he was a member has lost one of its most loyal communicants.

Besides his devoted wife the deceased is survived by the following brothers and sisters: William, of Orvis; David, of Roland; Mrs. Nancy Hoy, of Zion; Mrs. Mary Gunsallus of Nittany, Mrs. Mary Glossner of Romola, and Mrs. Elizabeth Walker of Snow Shoe.

Funeral services were held Tuesday forenoon at 10 o'clock in the German Reformed church at Romola and Rev. H. I. Crow of Hublersburg officiating. Interment was made in the cemetery at Romola.

MRS. MARGARET SNYDER.

Bellefonte Lady Passes from this Life to that Beyond.

Mrs. Margaret Snyder, wife of the late Capt. A. B. Snyder, died at her home on West Bishop street Tuesday afternoon about half past three o'clock. She had been an invalid for about two years and on the day of her death suffered a light stroke and death was attributed to heart failure. Although her health was declining, death came suddenly and was a shock to the family and friends.

Mrs. Margaret Snyder, whose maiden name was Wolfe, was born at Centre Hall on March 15, 1841, and was aged 67 years and 16 days at the time of her death.

The family has been lifelong residents of Bellefonte. She was a member of the Presbyterian church and was always prompt in her devotions, consistant in her faith and loyal to her church. She was a devoted and cheerful wife and always looked after the welfare of her children, unostentatious in her manner and enjoyed a large circle of friends.

Deceased is survived by the following children: Ellis D. Snyder, of Indiana; Mrs. Edward Cook, of Bellefonte, and Miss Mollie at home.

Spray Fruit Trees.

Persons having any trees or plants on their premises liable to be infested with San Jose scale should give the matter attention at once. Even if there be only a single tree or brush on a property the owner or tenant cannot exercise too much care.

The prize remedy for San Jose scale used to be a wash of lime, sulphur and salt. Now the salt has been eliminated as unnecessary. Instead of having to mix up the lime-sulphur wash the consumer can now purchase a commercial mixture which is endorsed by all the men who know how to fight the scale.

A sprayer is not needed for small trees or bushes where all parts can be reached with a paint brush. The important thing in fighting the scale is to get the proper wash and then see that every bit of the tree is covered with it.

Murder and Suicide.

The dead bodies of Frank Roberts and Mrs. Ghislaine Brizaet, of Hawk Run, were found by school children Tuesday evening near Munson. Each had a bullet hole in the head and close by Roberts lay a 38 calibre revolver. It is the general opinion that Roberts shot Mrs. Brizaet and then took his own life. Roberts has a wife in Belgium and Mrs. Brizaet's husband has been in the same country but is now on his way here. The tragedy is supposed to have occurred on Sunday when both parties left their homes at Hawk Run. It is presumed that the cause could be found in the old story of illicit relations, with the usual retribution of such a sinful course.

RECEIVERSHIP IS ENDED.

Westinghouse Machine Co. turns Property Back to Stock-Holders.

THE FUTURE IS BRIGHT

The Company will begin the fiscal year Free of Debt. Plans for Reorganization.

RECEIVERSHIP BEGAN LAST OCTOBER.

Pittsburg, April 1st.—The receivership for the Westinghouse Machine Company, created last October at the beginning of the financial depression, was vacated Tuesday by Judge Young, of the United States Circuit Court on petition of the company and the receivers.

The property was turned back to the stockholders and the campany will begin its fiscal year free from debt, with cash in bank and orders to justify operating the plant on about a 75 per cent, basis, as has been the case all through the receivership, and bright prospects for increasing the output in the near future.

Objection to the discharge of the receivers was made by the Railway Electric Power Company, claiming to be a creditor in the sum of $310,000. The objection was overruled by the Court upon the representation that the power company was not a bona fide creditor. The Westinghouse Company has an option expiring December 31st, 1910, to take over the entire stock and capitalization of the power company for $310,000. It is held the claim will not become valid unless the Westinghouse Company elects to absorb the power company.

This is the second of the three Westinghouse concerns forced into receiverships last fall to be restored to the stockholders. Plans are well under way for reorganizing the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, the Creditors Committee, of which will meet in New York next Thursday to further develope the plans.

VOTERS' RIGHTS UNDER LAW.

They Cannot Vote a Mixed Ticket—Must Name Their Party.

A very general misunderstanding exists as to the qualifications of voters at the spring primary to be held on April 11. Many people think that a Democrat can vote for some Democrats and some Republicans, at that election, and many also think that a Republican can vote for any person for nomination on the Democratic ticket and vice versa. The fact that the primary election is held under the law by the regular election board has led to this conclusion. The uniform primaries law, approved February 17, 1906, provides that the county commissioners shall prepare and furnish to the election officers for use at the primaries, as many official ballots of each party as are equal to double the total number of votes cast for any candidate of said party within the election district at the last general election and the names of all the candidates for nomination by the Democratic party will be printed one ballot and the names of all the candidates for nomination by the Republican party will be printed on another ballot. When a voter enters the polls he will be required to announce which ballot he desires to have and the election officers will furnish him with ballot of the party for which he asks. It will thus be seen that no voter can vote for some Republican and Democrats because he can only receive one ballot.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Under the directions of Phsical Director Hubbard the boys are getting the tennis grounds in readiness for the season.

A base ball club is probable in the near future. There is plenty of good material among the Y. M. C. A. boys and there are prospects of a good team.

Owing to the dispute over the last basket ball game Mr. Hubbard is endeavoring to arrange for a game on a neutral floor and a disinterested person will referee.

GREAT DISPLAY OF POST CARDS.

George T. Bush Known as the Post Card King, Doing an Extensive Wholesale as Well as Retail Business

Quite a mercantile industry has been quietly built up in our town in the extensive Post Card business of our young merchant Geo. T. Bush aptly styled by letters he has received addressed to him as the "Post Card King." His reputation extends all over the state especially among the traveling men as having the largest variety of Post Cards in the United States they numbering over 18,000.

Mr. Bush has had published of Bellefonte and vicinity alone over 150 thousand post cards an enormous number for a town of this size and which certainly helps to advertise the town. They being all pretty pictures and works of art well worth framing and uphold the town in its reputation for stability, high artistic sense and conservativeness, hundreds going to all parts of the world nearly everyday, they are of the finest workmanship he importing them direct from Dresden, Germany. There are now about 200 published varieties covering town and county with more being added right along, as well as about 50 photographic view post cards in addition, of other views which he make himself. Mr. Bush has a stock on hand of nearly half a million cards of every grade and variety from the grotesque comic to the beautiful art work.

Quite a wholesale business is done within Central Penns. and a small mail order business which extends over the United States. The little picture card has come to stay, it fills a place, and its use in instruction in art, history, geography, etc. for old and young as well as affording a quick and pleasing method of communication. It elevates the taste and appreciation for beautiful in everything and will be an uplifting standard, in the world.

Mr. Bush has counter and wall racks, many of which are his own designing, in the store that expose the face of 9000 different cards and has cards on sale that run from one cent in price to as high as one dollar each. He tells us the business in this country now, as large and extensive as it seems, is only in its infancy, as yet being of smaller extent now in this country than it was in 1900 in Continental Europe which he visited then and observed the extent of the industry over there at that time. The idea originated between some artists in Vienna forty years ago who drew sketches on cards and mailed to friends and from that small beginning has grown a business that more than a billion cards are now made yearly.

FIRE AT STATE COLLEGE.

Chemical Laboratory Badly Damaged Monday Afternoon.

Monday afternoon a 'phone message was received stating that the chemical laboratory at State College was badly damaged by fire. The fire broke out about half past two. An oil test was made at the time and mixing light and heavy oils caused it to condense too rapidly with the result that the condenser exploded, the oil catching fire and setting fire to the building.

It was with much difficulty that the fire was located and the burning oil greatly impeded the work of extinguishing the flames. The damage to the building is not so great but the loss of apparatus will amount to much. The loss is estimated to be between $2000 and $3000.

There were 18 students in the room at the time and two of them were overcome by gas. They were rescued by the others who had to drop to the floor and crawl out.

Fire in Highvalley.

On Tuesday, March 24th the house of Harry Honer, in Highvalley, a short distance south of Fiedler, caught fire from a defective flue and in a short time was burned to the ground. Mr. Horner was out cutting wood and Mrs. Honer and two children were in the house and the fire was not discovered until it had burned through the ceiling into the kitchen. Nothing was saved but a few pieces of clothing.

This is a great loss to Mr. Horner, who is a hard-working man and has a large family to support. About two years ago lightning struck his barn and burned it entailing him a heavy loss. A few weeks ago Mr. Horner had a small insurance taken on his house.

Mr. Horner and family have the sympathy of everyone, but sympathy does not count much in time of need.

Shriner, formerly pastor of the Bellefonte church has been appointed to the Trinity church at Lock Haven, much to the gratification of that congregation.

Long Between Visits.

The Lock Haven Express tells an interesting story of the visit of John Carson of Zion to that city. When Mr. Carson made his first visit to the city he was 18 years of age. He is now 78 years old and never again went to that city till Saturday, being a period of 60 years.

At that time the city was a primitive village with probably several hundred houses, nearly all of which were frame. The court house stood on the plot of ground now occupied by the First ward school building.

What is known as the hill section was a forest with several roads cut through. Only a few houses were in Mill Hall; and there were no industries at all, farming being the occupation followed by the residents.

Water street was then the business street and it was confined to several blocks. No railroads had yet entered this section, no street cars, electric lights, telephones, telegraph or in fact anything modern was in need there. Mr. Carson had frequently read of the city, but was surprised to see such fine business blocks, paved streets and in fact a municipality that is quite up-to-date.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

When we insist upon justice in the superlative degree, a close analysis generally discloses that it is for the other fellow that we want it.

To be weak is tolerable when one can make use of all the strength that resides in strong ones.

There is always plenty of material for the "I told you so" man to work upon and enunciate his theories from.

If some one would invent an infallible method of growing young, all the juveniles in the community would doubtless drop dead with disgust.

Not all duties are plain. Some are so ornate and betrimmed that we may question whether their identity may not be doubted.

Some people never grow old—at least they never reach the age of discretion.

Our real friends are those whose interests are insolubly bound up with our own.

Self conceit has its proper use in making the wheels of our individualism turn easily and run smoothly.

He who does not reason is not only not living his own life, but is also permitting another to live it for him.

When to reasoning ability we add receptivity of mind the resulting imputation amounts to a wise man if the receptive member be large enough.

Lucky, but Doesn't Know It.

The man without a dollar
Is quite a lucky chap.
No one can come to borrow
If he has none on tap;
No one can ship him presents
And make him pay the freight;
No one can sell him gold bricks
Though at a bargain rate;

No one can make him donate
Good money to a cause
Or tap him with a story
That thinner is than gauze.
If in the gilded barroom
He meets with two or three,
He gets his without saying,
"Come, boys, have one on me."

He doesn't pay the taxes
That homestead holders crush;
He doesn't pay the landlord
Or make the coal man flush.
The month's first day approaching
For him no terrors wear,
Because there are no charges
On water, light and air.

Perhaps sometimes he covets
The mighty millionaire
And wishes that the money
And troubles he might share.
He little knows the pleasures
(To him they are too near)
That come from being busted
Throughout the livelong year.

Scared It Away.

"How are you coming?"

"I'm managing to keep the wolf from my door."

"Yes; I heard you singing as I went by your place."

Sounded That Way.

"Must be awful carrying on at the lodge."

"I wonder."

"Seems to me like continuous rough house."

"Why so?"

"My husband says he has been through all the chairs."

Didn't Need the Prestage.

"I had a forty-second cousin who was president of the United States."

"Did he know about it?"

"I fear not."

"Why didn't you tell him?"

"I thought he had honor enough as it was."

Keep It Dark.

"Scientists claim now that we are made of electricity."

"Sh! Don't mention it."

"Why not?"

"The electrical trust will be sending us a bill."

Good Sign.

"What is he worrying so about?"

"Something on his mind."

"If he just knew himself a little better, he would cheer up mightily at this evidence that he had a mind."

Touches Their Vanity.

"Men like to take her to the ball game."

"Because she understands it?"

"No. She lets them explain it to her."

For Sure.

"I always make it a point to sleep with one eye open."

"Which eye?"

"The one that isn't closed."

WAGES SCALS TO BE SIGNED

Operators of the Central District Agree on Old Scale

30,000 MEN AFFECTED

Conference at Clearfield was Harmonious and Agreement was Easily Made.

NEWS FROM OTHER DISTRICTS

Clearfield, Pa., March 26.—At a joint conference of operators and miners of the Central Pennsylvania soft coal field held here today the present wage scale was readopted for another year from April 1.

The conference was exceedingly harmonious and no friction whatever was encountered in arriving at an agreement, which affects in the provision 30,000 men employed in the soft coal field. The miners' committee will report to the convention of District No 2, now in session at DuBois, and the agreement will doubtless be ratified tomorrow.

James Kerr, as president of the Central Pennsylvania Operators' Association; Congressman W. B. Wilson, the president and national secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, and District President Patrick Gilday were the leading spirits in the negotiations.

Most of the mines in the central Pennsylvania soft coal field are largely owned by Philadelphia interests.

Pittsburg, March 26.—Wage scale committees representing the operators and miners of this district today agreed to hold a joint meeting tomorrow to determine whether the mines are to be closed next Tuesday. At a meeting of operators it was decided to attend the conference.

Wheeling W. Va., March 26.—Secretary Patrick McBride, of the Pittsburg Vein Operators association, said today there would be no strike in the Eastern Ohio district over the refusal of the operators to renew the present wage agreement. Secretary McBride says there is no disposition on the part of the operators to decrease pay, while the miners are asking for no increase. There will be a suspension of work, he says beginning April 1, until the difficulties are adjusted, but it will not be a strike.

Storage Eggs Made "Fresh."

How cold storage eggs are freshened and the very simple manner in which it is done is vouched for by an engineer on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The process of rejuvenating such eggs may be unique and somewhat expensive, storage eggs and those branded "fresh" warrants the undertaking.

A few nights ago this engineer, acting under orders, hauled an entire carload of eggs taken out of a local cold storage house to Elizabethtown, a short distance this side of Lancaster. A few hours standing in the car on the siding of the Lancaster county town was all that was necessary, and the same engineer brought back the identical car and the identical eggs marked in blazoned letters on the car "fresh eggs from Elizabethtown."—Philadelphia Record.

Hi Henry Pleases.

The Hi Henry minstrels which appeared at the opera house Wednesday evening with a new collection of jokes, sketches and songs was greeted by a crowded house and everyone was pleased. The stage setting presented a pleasing and beautiful effect. There was continual applause and every feature of the show was attraction in itself. Probst, the whistler is an artist in his bird imitations and was a delight to the audience. Throughout the entertainment was first class in every respect and Hi Henry still maintains his reputation for high class minstrelsy.

Steel Coach in Service.

The first to be completed of the order of 200 all-steel passenger cars placed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company last year, has just been placed in service between New York and Philadelphia.

This coach is 70 feet in length and is, therefore the heaviest car of its kind which has been built. Aside from the mahogany window sash, and seat frames, there is no wood whatever in the coach. It is as nearly fire proof and collision-proof as in the present state of the art, it is possible to make it.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

The "Smoke Habit" Viewed from a Medical Standpoint, by Dr. Mathew Woods.

We have received a clipping from The Sunday School Times giving an address delivered by Dr. Mathew Woods, a leading member of the American Medical Association, at a recent banquet given by the alumni of the Medical Department of the University of Pennsylvania.

As requested by a number of our church people, lay and clerical, asking us to place the distinguished Doctor's address in the columns of The Daily News. "We give it below in full."

"When first aroused by feelings akin to indignation by the announcement that this society was about to give a "smoker," it was not because I loved less the brethren chiefly instrumental in making the compromising spectacle possible, but because I loved my profession and alma mater more.

I had been taught, and still believe, that medicine is a sacred calling, that it combines in itself the excellencies of all professions, just as the greater contains the less; that the physician is, or ought to be, a man set apart, devoted to the betterment, not the destructive pleasures or obliteration of the higher interests of humanity. The broad study of medicine, not to be confined within the narrow limits of therapeutics, considers man morally as well as physically and includes within its sphere the issues of life and death.

With this conception of the duties that belong to our vocation, this positive duty devolving upon us to separate ourselves from and condemn everything causing either moral or physical deterioration, you may imagine the sorrow that possessed many of the alumni of our common foster mother when they realized that on the contrary, this association called by her name had gone over to the Philistines, that this division of her sons, of all men, after the manner of the profane world had actually decided to give a "Smoker!" had deliberately and officially announced its purpose to throw the weight of its great example in favor of an indulgence condemned by almost every prudent father, by almost every mother and wife, by all who have been its victims, by nearly all who have not, and by many still under its thrall.

That a collective body of esteemed men should decide to stamp with the approval of a sanitary and presumably sagacious society—recognized custodians of the public health—a custom opposed to health and that has become the bane of domestic and public ethics as well as esthetics, a menace to higher education, a concomitant of nearly every modern error, an enemy of moral reform, a cause of mental decay, a habit, as many homes can testify, often causing the obliteration of that faculty that enables man to recognize the rights of others; that we as an association of physicians should have deliberately decided to feed with the bread of encouragement this procreator of hydra-headed disease, this habit which, according to the opinion of many educational and medical authorities, is the curse of modern civilization, is indeed one of those anomalies of conduct calculated to make the judicious grieve.

We are not discussing the rights of the individual, for, much as we regret friends somewhat dead in narcotic trespasses and soporific sins, we presume not to limit the liberty of any man; our protest is with an association—as if there was no other way of blowing the spark of good fellowship into a flame—officially deciding to do what is not only inconsistent and unseemly, but morally wrong."

The editor of the Sunday School Times adds. "These are not the words of a clergyman, or of a theoretical temperance fanatic, but of a physician of convictions, clearhead because unclouded by nicotine fumes pleading with his brother physicians to be true to their professional privileges.

It was not at all a question of the church or of religion this time, but of a social gathering of practicing physicians.

Isn't all that the distinguished M. D. says worth considering not only by church clubs, but every man who has taken the name of Christ, and who wants to live a clean life in a clean body?

No man who makes Christ his whole strength and dependence is ever sorry for the making of any sacrifice in self-denial for Jesus sake."

The April Woman's Home Companion.

The April number of the Woman's Home Companion contains several notable articles, and is, in addition, a thoroughly artistic and beautiful issue. Kellogg Durland contributes his second article on "Women of the Russian Revolt;" Jane Addams writes a thoughtful and appealing article on "The Working Woman and the Ballot;" Dr. Edward Everett Hale gives a helpful talk on "The Meaning of Home," and Elisabeth Stuart Phelps continues her serial story "Though Life Us Do Part." There are also some excellent short stories. This April issue is beautiful in its Easter cover and in many fine pictorial features by Hermann C. Wall, Florence Scovel Shinn, Ellen Macauley and others.

Academy Contest Called Off.

On account of a lack of interest being shown toward the Academy voting contest inaugurated some time ago this means of supplementing the funds for the improvement of the glass works meadow for athletic purposes has been called off by Mr. Hughes. This does not, however signify that the improvements are not to be made, but another plan for raising this money will be adopted. Instead of continuing the contest, which has grown so slowly, an effort will be made to raise the money by popular subscription. Four subscription blanks have been prepared and the business men and sports of the town will be called upon to assist in the Bellefonte athletic cause.

The various sports are a help to any town and Bellefonte should keep up with the procession. It helps the business men and moreover an institution like the Academy is of great business importance to the town. No school can be conducted successfully in this day without the popular athletics such as base ball, foot ball and basket ball, and by encouraging these sports among the Academy students you are helping the town in a business way. A town the size of Bellefonte that does not have a good athletic field and game sportsmen is considered "slow," so it is up to us all to assist in this movement.

—Public sales are now in order and attracting large crowds, and the prices being paid are very satisfactory to those disposing of their goods. The spring sales are a boon to politicians and there are usually some on hand.

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate women and children. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both to extract and preserve the medicinal principles used in them, viz.—pure triple-refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

Baseball League for Bellefonte

A league has been formed in Bellefonte for the purpose of playing baseball during the evening and will therefore be called the Twilight League. All business men and baseball players who do not have time to play during the day are cordially invited to come to the public school grounds every evening and participate in a game of baseball solely for the purpose of fun and exercise. The only requirement for admission to the league is that the player must be able to stop the ball even if he has to use a bushel basket. Anybody who can almost but not quite play baseball, will soon learn under the skillfull coaching of Dick Irvin who has kindly offered his services as head coach and will be ably assisted by Mack Heinle.

Dr. Kilpatrick has signified his intention of being one of the spectators provided he is furnished by the "Committee of Protection from Wild Throws" with a baseball mask to protect his face for as he says, 'being hit with a baseball in the eye is not conducive to perfect steering in an automobile especially when there are ditches by the side of the road.'

When in need of baseballs or bats five or ten cents will be collected from each player in order to purchase same. As soon as enough players appear upon the grounds sides will be chosen and the game commenced. Each side adding new players as they appear upon the scene. The usual starting time is about 6.30 A team composed of the best players will represent the Twilight League on holidays when games will be scheduled with other teams. Remember the games will be played on the grounds below Linn street by the stone school house. If you can't play baseball come and learn and have a good time. Watch for the announcement of the opening of the Twilight League in this place.

How About Your Dip Net.

Game and fish wardens are on the lookout for persons who are using dip and set nets illegally and arrests have been made in near by counties for using dip nets not in accordance with the law.

The dip net act is as follows: It shall be lawful to fish in the waters of this commonwealth, not inhabited by trout during the months of March, April, May, October, November and December, with dip nets for carp, catfish, eels and suckers. Provided, said nets do not span more than five feet, and meshes shall not be less than two inches in width of mesh and one inch from knot to knot. The owners or operators of such dip nets shall immediately restore and return alive, any other fish that may be captured in such dip nets, to the waters from which they were taken.

Any person or persons, violating the provisions of this act shall on conviction thereof, be subject to a fine of $10 for each fish unlawfully kept, together with the forfeiture of nets and all other appliances to the Fish Commissioners.

Miss Dobson's Chance.

By Katharine Kingsley Crosby.

Copyright, 1908, by P. C. Eastment.

Her name was Dobson, but she intended to change it as soon as possible, not in any conventional way, like a process of law or getting married, however, but simply by going upon the stage. In pursuance of this plan she haunted the office of the theatrical manager, Malcom Sturgis, far up on the top floor of one of the older office buildings in that part of the city which the casual shopper never sees.

The elevator boy got to know her very well. Jim was a susceptible youth, and when on one of her ascensions Miss Dobson chanced to drop the circlet of blue ribbon which tied her left sleeve above a dimpled elbow he made a love knot of it and decorated the controlling lever. His passengers, if they noticed it at all, doubtless ascribed it to some hidden aesthetic yearnings.

From all this you may guess that Miss Dobson was pretty, which was very true, and, moreover, dainty and girlish, which does not always follow, with wide gray eyes and a glint of gold in her soft brown hair.

She had a reserve of temperament and dramatic power which her complexion and bearing quite belied, however, and it may have been this which made it so hard to get a hearing in the office above stairs.

Jim had carried her back and forth now for over a month and noticed that her color was beginning to fade, a fact which proved it to be her own at least, but also suggested that her ambition was slowly consuming her with its white heat.

He knew her type, for he had seen it before, and it never gave up. But this girl was younger and fresher and—well, different, Jim thought. He was a chivalrous chap, and he lay awake nights thinking how he might help her. He wondered if it would do any good to speak to Mr. Sturgis, the manager, about her some morning.

Malcom Sturgis had given the boy a five dollar bill the previous Christmas and always passed the time of day when he was not thinking about something else, but somehow his manner did not invite liberties.

A second month passed while Jim still pondered over the problem, and Miss Dobson's neat black suit was wearing shiny at the seams in spite of careful brushings. Then the end came. It was late in November, when the days are very short and dusk falls early. Miss Dobson had been waiting for the time when the door of the great man's office should open and she be bidden to enter.

So she had waited all these weary weeks, watching others pass in and out and reading on their faces what their fortunes had been. In spite of the despair which she so often saw her own hope never faltered, for she was sure of herself and her powers.

For this reason she was still sitting there, though it was after 6 and everybody had gone except the manager. Suddenly the door opened, and Malcom Sturgis hurried out and crossed the room into the corridor outside, where the elevator was waiting. The girl sprang up and followed, and the door clanged upon them, the two of them, and Jim.

If it hadn't been for Jim—well, failure does not make an interesting story, most people think, for Miss Dobson was just gathering her wits for a third appeal to the august man for a hearing on the morrow when—the car stopped.

The boy juggled with the levers, and the elevator went up a few inches, stopped again, then shot down another story, where it stopped definitely and so suddenly that it fairly bounced.

Instead of her speech Miss Dobson exclaimed earnestly, "Gracious!" and the manager inquired: "Jove! What's the matter?" To this Jim, not Jove, replied truthfully enough that "she" had never acted like that before, and he guessed the power must have given out.

"Well, open the door, can't you?" demanded Sturgis impatiently.

"Sorry, sir but we are between floors," replied Jim, who had so arranged it.

"Where is the watchman?"

"Doesn't come till 7, sir."

So there was no help for it, and Malcom tried to take it philosophically. He turned his attention to the girl. Where had he seen her before? Oh, yes, she was one of those little stage-struck things whom he had been trying to tire out. He was in for it now, though.

"Please, sir," said Miss Dobson bravely; "please, Mr. Sturgis, may I do some of my parts now? It—it may serve to pass the time while we are waiting."

The manager expected to glower at this bold request, but the man in him smiled instead. He, too, noticed a difference, and her pluck appealed to him. He would try to let her down gently.

"What experience have you had?" he inquired.

"Only in college," she replied, "but listen."

It was a tiny stage, that little car, hung between heaven and earth, with darkness everywhere beyond the reach of its single incandescent—a tiny stage, but her audience forgot it in the glamour of the scenes she spread before them.

She recreated old parts so freshly that the great manager could only wonder how else they might be played. Ancient and modern, from "She Stoops to Conquer" to "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire" and the subtleties of "Candida," tragedy and comedy and problem—she forgot her audience completely till an involuntary "Bully!" from Jim, who could contain himself no longer, brought her to herself.

"Where did you learn to do it?" gasped Malcom Sturgis when Miss Dobson stood somewhat abashed in her own personality.

"Why, I've always done it," she stammered. "Do you think—do you think I will do?"

"Yes," he answered briefly, "I think you will. Meet me here at 10 tomorrow to talk over the contract."

"Do you mean for an engagement?" Her eyes were wide with astonishment.

"For an engagement," he said, and at the look of gratitude she gave him he suddenly conceived the possibility of a secondary meaning to the phrase. Aloud he only asked, "You haven't told me your name yet, Miss"—

"Dobson," she replied, adding hurriedly, "but I can change it if you think another would be better."

"I have one in mind which might do better, I confess, but we will talk that over another time. This has been a very lucky trip for me."

It seemed to Jim that matters had gone far enough, and as though suddenly inspired he turned his lever in a way which sent the car quickly to the street floor. As they passed out Miss Dobson gave his hand a little squeeze and whispered, "I'll never forget this, Jim," and the manager slipped a bill into the same receptacle.

Jim grinned.

"Shouldn't wonder if I'd made a match as well as a star," he thought. "Not a bad day's work that!"

Dislike Curly Haired Men.

It is not generally known that there is a well defined prejudice against curly haired men when it comes to choosing a jury. When asked to explain the objection to curly haired men a prominent lawyer said:

"When I was just starting life my legal mentor inculcated that idea very forcibly into me. He said that curly haired men almost invariably had been the pampered darlings of their parents and in their youth had been so accustomed to having their own way that they had grown up in the belief that everybody on earth was wrong except themselves. In this way the seeds of opposition were sown, and as men they made it a point to disagree with everybody and everything. If every other man on a jury voted one way they would vote the other. They usually are as stubborn as the day is long; hence a curly haired man never goes on a jury if I can prevent it."—Exchange.

The Camel's Eye.

The Nile is essentially a river of silence and mystery. Even the camels turn their beautiful soft eyes upon you as if you were intruding upon their silence and reserve. Never were the eyes in a human head so beautiful as a camel's. There is a limpid softness, an appealing plaintiveness, in their expression which drag at your sympathies like the look in the eyes of a hunchback. It means that with your opportunities you might have done more with your life. Your mother looks at you that way sometimes in church when the sermon touches a particularly raw nerve in your spiritual makeup. I always feel like apologizing when a camel looks at me.—Exchange.

Relativity of Knowledge.

The "relativity of knowledge" means that you can know things only as they are related to your faculties. The thing in itself and apart from the way it appears to us is unknown and unknowable. Absolute knowledge is out of the question. In a word, we know appearances, but never the reality behind the appearances; the shadows, but never the substance itself. In fine, the gist of the doctrine of the "relativity of knowledge" is that our so called knowledge is only phantasmagoria. We know the appearance, but we have no means of deciding whether the appearance is true or false.—New York American.

Practical Reflections.

"That young man who is addressing you is rich in intellect."

"But if I marry him and am invited out I can't wear his gems of thought."—Baltimore American.

I told how I had been relieved of kidney complaint and backache which had kept me suffering for years. Doan's Kidney Pills did this for me when other remedies had failed. Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn boys growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granules of waste, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual cause to suffer longer without help. All the Gold IN GEORGIA Could not Buy-

Roding, Ga. August 27, 1906.
Messrs. E. C. DeWitt & Co.,
Chicago, Ills.
Gentlemen:—
In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. Some physicians told me it was Dyspepsia, some Consumption of the Lungs, others said consumption of the Bowels. One physician said I would not live until Spring, and for four long years I existed on a little boiled milk, soda biscuits, doctors' prescriptions and Dyspepsia remedies that flooded the market. I could not digest anything I ate, and in the Spring 1902 I picked up one of your Almanacs as a poor emaciated Dyspepsia wreck will grasp at anything, and that Almanac happened to be my life saver. I bought a fifty cent bottle of KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE and the benefit I received from that bottle ALL THE GOLD IN GEORGIA COULD NOT BUY. I kept on taking it and in two months I went back to my work, as a machinist, and in three months I was well and hearty. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic.
May you live long and prosper.
Yours very truly,
C. N. CORNELL.

If a cough once gets into your system it acts on every muscle and fibre of the body and makes you ache all over. It especially affects the intestines and makes you constipated, so in order to get rid of a cold thoroughly and without delay you should not take anything that will tend to constipate. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup acts upon the bowels and thereby drives the cold out of the system. It contains no opiates—it is pleasant to take and is highly recommended for children. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

THE WOMAN WHO COUGHED.

Catarrh had nearly ruined me. It had eaten away the partition in my nose; produced Asthma, Bronchitis, Rheumatism; ruined my stomach; in fact, gone all through my system. Then Grip finished me. I was a wreck; took cold at nothing; and coughed day and night. The doctors dosed me with opium and quinine. No good. Cough "cures"? Bah! Then Brazilian Balm renovated me. Killed every germ. Took 10 $1.00 bottles. Now I'm like a girl of 18.

EDITORIAL.

THERE will be a great reduction in candidates on Saturday, April 11.

MR. Bryan denies that he owns an automobile, but he must admit that he knows how to run a "machine."

IF all the candidates succeed in getting their friends out to the primaries there ought to be a large vote polled.

ABOUT all that some members of congress know about the money question is that $7,500 a year is better than $5,000 a year.—Dallas News.

WITH the resumption of industrial plants throughout the county and the general improvement of trade conditions, the railroads and transpartation companies are certain to feel the results.

AN exchange says that choosing a husband is like choosing mushrooms—if it is a mushroom you live; if it is a toad-stool you die. Apparently some have made the mistake of getting a toad-stool for a mush-room.

A VENANGO county constable is going to declare war against private card parties and all social gatherings where prizes are given to the winners. He declares this is gambling and according to his oath he is duty bound to suppress it.

AN Atlantic City clergyman has come forward with a new scheme of enticing men to the sanctuary. He proposes to allow them to smoke, shed their coats and collars and make themselves otherwise comfortable. Some clergymen are sadly in need of what Emerson called "the satisfying grace of common sense."

GOVERNOR Stuart has just issued one of the most forceful Arbor day proclamations ever sent out by a Pennsylvania chief executive. He sets forth, briefly yet emphatically, that "at the present rate of growth and consumption the day is not far distant when the scarcity of wood will be felt in our homes as well as our industries." The American people are on the verge of a timber famine. "Equally serious is the waste of soil, which is due to the reckless destruction of our forests." Denudation of our forest areas means not only increase in the cost of building and of all of the articles made from wood, and loss to the farmers by reason of the washing away of the soil, but the damage from flood is greatly increased and the suffering from drouth is more extended.

Roosevelt's Urgent Message.

President Roosevelt is a man who believes in doing things and this policy was again emphatically exemplified in a special message to Congress on Wednesday. He takes occasion to impress on the legislative bodies the necessity of pronounced action on matters that relate to the national welfare. He hews close to the line and is not concerned where the chips may fall, and calls attention to legislation that should be enacted before the close of the present session.

He declares that child labor should be prohibited throughout the nation and renews his recommendation of an employers' liability bill that will stand the test of the Supreme Court.

He urgently recommends amending the interstate commerce law and that legislation be enacted in reference to injunctions in labor disputes. In his opinion a strike is a clumsy weapon in righting wrongs done to labor, and the process of reconcilliation and arbitration should be extended as far a possible. To the surprise of many he takes a position in favor of tariff revision and as a beginning, in the interest of forest preservation, he suggests the placing of wood pulp on the free list. The President defines himself clearly. The inactivity of Congress has called out the special message and if nothing is done the blame cannot be laid to the President. The country will look to Congress to take a stand.

BRYAN is certain that he will be nominated. The real point is, is he equally certain of being elected?

THE increase in the number of shooting affrays is likely to bring on war against the carrying of concealed weapons.

MADAM Anna Gould has made many contradictory statements but a woman has always the right to change her mind.

THE season of forest fires has arrived and persons traveling in the woods cannot exercise too much care about handling fire.

THIS is great weather for the candidate. He finds the setting up of his fences a pleasant job under such conditions, and the sewing of his seed is extremely comfortable.

SENATOR Penrose's gradual gain and the more hopeful tone of the bulletins from his bedside have greatly encouraged his friends everywhere to believe that he will recover.

Equity Between the Four Counties of the 21st Congressional District.

The 21st Congressional District is made up of the four counties of Clearfield, McKean, Centre and Cameron, the counties ranking in population and Republican vote in the order named. This year there are the following District nominations to be made:—

Congressman.

Two Delegates to the National Convention.

Two Alternate Delegates.

There will be two Presidential electors, but they will be named at the State Convention, by the State Delegates of the four counties.

Following what appeared to be an expression of public opinion in the leading Republican newspapers of the four counties, as to a proper division of the places between the counties:

Cameron county was conceded the Congressional nomination for Capt. C. F. Barclay.

Centre county presented one candidate for National Delegate—W. F. Reynolds.

Clearfield county, one candidate for National Delegate—Harry Boulton.—And McKean county presented two candidates for the Alternate Delegates.

This strikes one as a reasonable and fair division. If it may be said that the Alternates were not much for McKean county, the leaders there admitted that in just having had the Congressional nomination twice McKean county had been dealt with very generously by the other counties of the District.

But the division above set out does not appear to have met with the approval of all of McKean county, and after getting the Alternates unopposed, Lewis Emery, from that county, is presented as a candidate for National Delegate,

We think McKean should be fair and concede the division which was suggested from that county, or, at least, was endorsed by it, and has been acted upon by the others.

The best interests of the counties linked together in the 21st Congressional District demand that there should be equitable and fair dealing between them.—Houtzdale Citizen.

Local Option Movement is Taking Root.

The interest taken in the organization of the local option campaign in this county is drawing more than ordinary attention. There is no denying the fact that the movement is spreading and when it comes to the actual test this community will probably show its fair proportion of strength both for and against the proposition. As to the outcome that is problematical. The enthusiasts on either side are liberal in their claims according to their individual interest. These claims, however, are but a matter of opinion. One of the plans adopted in the local option movements to exact a promise from candidates for the Legislature that they will vote for such a bill in the event of election. A refusal to so promise places the candidate in a position that is accepted as opposed to the movement and consequently he can expect to be discriminated against at the polls. It may be all right for a candidate to declare himself as to any matter, but to require a direct promise is interpreted by some as unfair.

WE ALL USE PE-RU-NA IN OUR HOME

Who is best able to judge of the value of Pe-ru-na? The housewife who has used it in her home for years, or prejudiced, sensational writers who have never used Pe-ru-na in their lives? It will not take any fair-minded reader a minute to decide which is the best evidence. The mothers of the United States believe in Pe-ru-na. The half million women who praise Pe-ru-na receive no pay for doing so, and the half dozen editors who disparage Pe-ru-na get big pay for doing so. Which is the best evidence?

Now Eats and Sleeps Well.

Mrs. Annie Tesch, 337 23rd Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "When I wrote to you for advice, my health was a total wreck. I could not sleep and thought I would die, as there seemed to be no help for me. But I followed your advice and took Peruna and Manalin.

"I am now cured. I can eat and sleep well, and enjoy life.

"I never will be without Peruna, should any of us be sick."

Catarrh of Worst Form.

Mrs. Amanda Long, 7237 Seeley Avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I believe that I am cured of catarrh of the worst form and of long standing.

"I was almost a total wreck. I tried almost everything and doctored with a number of doctors, but they did me no good.

"I tried Peruna as a last resort, and by the time I had taken one bottle I could see that it was helping me, and so I continued taking it. I can say now that I have not felt the slightest symptoms for three months, and I think there is nothing like Peruna. I still keep it in the house, and think there is no medicine like it. I cannot praise it too highly, and bless the day that I learned of it."

Mrs. Judge J. F. Boyer, 1421 Sherman Avenue, Evanston, Ill., writes that several complications united in pulling her down, and she thanks Peruna for new life and strength.

Pe-ru-na Tablets.

For two years Dr. Hartman and his assistants have incessantly labored to create Peruna in tablet form, and their strenuous labors have just been crowned with success. People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets. Each tablet is equivalent to one average dose of Peruna.

Sore Throat for Years.

Mrs. C. Dashel, 384 Irving Avenue, Chicago, Ill., Curator Natural History Society, writes:

"I am glad to be able to recommend Peruna for chronic sore throat. I had been troubled with sore throat for years, but could find nothing to help me. I had an awful gagging in the morning and was subject to dizzy spells. I could not draw a free breath and life had no pleasure for me. My throat was dry and parched.

"I supposed I was doomed to spend the rest of my days in this condition, when I heard what good Peruna had been to others, so I tried a bottle of it. After using it I was much better and six bottles of it cured me.

"I cannot say too much for Peruna, and I hope that some poor sufferer like myself will see this and give it a trial."

Acute Indigestion.

Mr. John C. Russell, 810 County Street, Portsmouth, Va., writes regarding his wife's case as follows:

"I thought it would be doing but justice to your great medicine to tell you what it has done for my wife.

"Two years ago the doctor called at our house, on an average, three times a week, in attendance upon my wife, who was suffering from acute indigestion. Her suffering was so great that nothing but morphine would give her relief.

"While on a visit to some friends in Norfolk she had an attack and I prepared to go for the doctor, when our friend proposed Peruna. I gave her a dose, repeating it in a half hour, and her pains passed away. Since that time my wife has gained thirty pounds.

Gained Thirty Pounds.

"We are never out of Peruna. When the children or I have a cold we take some of mamma's Peruna. I find it has cut my doctor bills down to almost nothing."

Pe-ru-na for Her Children.

Mrs. Alice Bogle, 803 Clinton St., Circleville, Ohio, writes:

"I want to inform you what Peruna has done for me.

"I have been afflicted with catarrh for several years. I have tried different medicines and none seemed to do me any good until I used Peruna. I have taken six bottles and can praise it very highly for the good it has done me.

"I also find it of great benefit to my children."

To Our Subscribers

Postal Department Compels Us to Make Collections.

A new ruling by the Postmaster General Washington forbids the sending of weekly papers through the mails at the secondclass rate to any subscriber who is more than one year in arrears. The new order was to take effect January 1st, 1908, but an extension until April 1 has been granted publishers in order to get subscriptions due them paid up and in shape for the new ruling.

You will note that opposite your name on the label of your paper is the date on which your subscription has expired, and we kindly ask you who are in arrears, please remit at once.

THE REPUBLICAN is proud of its large list of prompt payers who pay every year, or every two years as some do, paying a year or more in advance. This class of subscribers is not affected by the ruling, but other subscribers who are as good as "old wheat in the mill" who leave their subscription stand two or three years or longer, are included in the rule and these are the friends to whom we mail notices so get ready. The rule is imperative on all newspapers to collect or drop the names of delinquents. Our subscribers will know our position and we urge all to make quick settlement. An easy and prompt way is to mail check, postal order, or currency direct to THE REPUBLICAN office as soon as you read this notice.

We need the co-operation of our friends to meet this iron-clad ruling of the postoffice department, the purpose of which few of our subscribers understand. One of the objects is to exclude from the mails the second class mail matter being sent to persons who are not actual subscribers and thus reduce the cost of mail transportation many, many thousands of dollars.

Please do not overlook this notice as it is of great importance to you and THE REPUBLICAN. Early and prompt attention will avoid misunderstandings and unmeant ill-feelings later on—about the first week in April.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain in the Bellefonte P. O. uncalled for April, 1st. 1908.

Preaching services in the U. B. church Monday night April 6th by Rev. J. S. Fulton.

The sale of the late deceased H. A. Witherite was very largely attended.

Mrs. C. B. Friel did some shopping in Bellefonte during the week.

We wonder what the attraction is that Asbury sees at Port Matilda.

Quite a number of movings took place on the first of April. They were as follows: Mrs. Anna Witherite and daughters moved into one part of the Smoyer residence, Willis Poorman into the house vacated by Witherites, Forden Walker takes charge of the Griffith farm and Arthur Bedient will move to Oak Hall.

Elias Hancock and Nellie Rathmell transacted business in Bellefonte Saturday.

Mrs. William Shirk who has been very sick is rapidly improving.

Found—Between Runville and Wingate a horse blanket last Saturday. The owner can have the same by calling on Rev. O. T. Stewart and proving lost property.

We have all learned that when spring draws nigh the birds begin to flock from the South for the place they love so well, North. But this spring the writer takes notice and especially on Saturday night, a buggy occupied by two whistling birds of Snow Shoe, slowly wending their way toward Milesburg and returning on Sunday eve.

James Lucas transacted business at Tyrone Tuesday.

Boast about your fine school teachers, Chestnut Grove can boast of one this winter. Asbury Pletcher knows how to put the cleaner on the boys and girls, and then when the parents come to "butt in" he pulls his coat and if they don't skidoo they come in contact with their antagonist; parents do a very wrong thing to believe every tale of woe that their children bring home from school. Why not go to visit the schools of the day and see for yourself. Don't put all the blame on the teacher.

Don't forget preaching in the U. B. church Sunday morning and evening.

Howard.

W. T. Turner, of Keating Summit and Justice Turner, of Altoona, were visitors last week at the home of their brother and sister.

Charles E Fisher, republican candidate for the nomination for assemblyman, was in Howard last week looking after his political fences and while here added to his already long list of friends. He is a pleasant young gentleman to meet and his chances are equal with the rest.

Messrs. Parker, W. H. and David Thompson, Thomas Confer and Charlee Walmer were in Bellefonte Monday to visit John D. Thompson who is at the hospital. We are sorry to relate that Mr. Thompson is improving slowly if any at all.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Robb, of Pitcairn, died on Wednesday of last week.

An addition of about one hundred books has been made to the school library. The citizens responded liberally to the appeal of the teachers, and the school-board aided with an appropriation. The books were carefully selected and will be a great benefit to those who read them. The schools now possess quite an extensive library.

The burning and death of Mrs. Samuel Leitch was sad indeed. Further mention is made in the columns of this paper.

The commencement exercises of the Howard high school will be held on Thursday, April 16th. There are only four in the class this year and they will pass very creditable examinations. The writer was unable to learn who would preach the baccalaureate sermon nor who would address the class at the commencement. The four graduates are Josephine Moffly, Josephine Henderson, Lula Schenck and Nellie Hopkins.

Mrs. Wm. Johnson is erecting a green house at her residence near the grist mill. Mrs. Johnson has been growing plants and vegetables for several years and expects to go into the business on a more extensive scale.

It is understood that Wm. Quay, carrier on rural route No. 1, will erect himself a home in Howard this summer. Mr. Quay formerly lived in Curtin township.

Flittings were quite numerous here this spring and in a few days everyone will be settled again.

A number of gun shots were heard in the vicinity of the 'Thickets" about mid night recently, and citizens living nearby wondered what was up. Several of our young sports who are far from being naturalists heard a noice which they supposed was made by wild geese. They immediately got their shot guns and blazed away in the direction of where the noise emanated. When they went to look for the dead ones they discovered that the noise was made by a number of lizards.

Fiedler.

Attending sales and movings has been the latest fashion but this week they will be a thing of the past. The next will be farm work, hunting for dandelion, making garden, etc.

Wm. Snavely of Millheim moved into Chas. W. Wolf's tenant house and will work for Mr. Wolf this summer.

Martin Gilbert who has been employed for several years at Milroy, is at present laid up with a severe attack of pneumonia.

R. E. Stover of Aaronsburg sawed wood with his gasoline engine on Friday for C. W. Wolf.

Tomlinson's saw mill is at present at a stand still, the sawyer went to Clearfield, and the work stopped.

Chas. R Hinds left for Coburn on Monday where he will be employed for the summer.

The Chapel School, taught by Arbor Evert, will close this week. He was a very successful teacher and we hope he will teach here next term.

John Bower bought a fine horse at Bowes's sale on Friday.

A party of three went to Aaronsburg one eve last week. When Fred and Stella were ready ready to go home the rig was gone and they had to "hoof" it home.

Warren Bower's sale on Thursday, which was the last for the season, was very largely attended and every thing brought good prices with the exception hogs.

R. E. Hinds who is employed in Harter, W. Va. left last week after spending two months at home.

Carrie Immel who spent the winter here has gone to her home in Spring Mills.

"The United Brethren" baled hay at Elmer Burns last week.

Aaronsburg

Miss Mable Cronse has recurned home from Philadelphia where she spent several years in the milliner business. We understand she has rented the former post office building and will start a first class millinery store with the best and latest styles. She bought out Mrs. Breon which leaves her the only milliner in Haines township.

Proffessor C. E. Edmonds of Freeland Pa. visited his mother over Sunday. Tuesday she will quit house-keeping and make her home at Coburn with her daughter Mrs. C. A. Weaver.

Abbey Wance of Tolersville visited her many friends over Sunday.

Mrs. Emil Kerstetter of Coburn visited her sister Susan Rupp on last Friday.

Ed Bower our coal dealer sold six car loads of coal since fall and has sixty tons more on hand for sale.

George E. Stover purchased a fine fresh cow at Woodward a few days ago.

Harry Wyle visited his wife last week at the Bellefonte hospital.

Harvey Confer and wife of Millheim visited his aunt Susan Minick on Sunday.

Wm. C. Mingle one of our successful school teachers spent a few days last week at Altoona where he took the civil service examination, so there was no school.

Wilson Haines of near Penn Hall moved into his home recently purchased of A. O. Hosterman.

Warren Bower and Wm. Haines from east of town both moved into their homes recently purchased in town. Houses are all taken up.

Wm. Krape of Centre Hall has bought Ex-sheriff Condo's home and will open up a jewelry store and also keep all kinds of confectionery.

Centre Mills

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kline of this place visited Chas. Stover of Millheim on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler of Washington, D. C. visited J. K. Moyer over Sunday.

Mr. A. E. Corman of this place returned from a two weeks visit in Union county last Friday.

The public schools of Rebersburg will close Monday April 6th.

"The blood is the life." Science has never gone beyond that simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgment are effected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. No one can be well balanced in mind and body whose blood is impure. No one can have a wholesome and pure life unless the blood is pure. Foul blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the blood is pure, body and brain are alike healthy and life becomes a daily happiness.

Standing out in bold relief, all alone and a conspicuous example of open frank and honest dealing with the sick and afflicted, Dr. Pierce prints on the bottle wrapper in plain English a full list of the ingredients. Therefore not a "patent medicine," but a medicine of known composition.

Meat Prices May Go Up.

Following closely the announcement of a reduction in the cost of the necessities of life comes the rumor of an advance in meat prices. It is said that out west the shortage of cattle is worse than it has been for years.

Last fall when the cattle raisers were preparing to put their cattle up for winter feeding and were ready to go to market and buy lean cattle for fattening purposes they were unable to get their usual money owing to the financial stringency, and many of them could not buy cattle. Worse still, they could not borrow money on the cattle they had on their ranches with which to buy food for them for the winter. Owing to these conditions many of the farmers shipped to the markets all the cattle they could, as they did not have grain to feed them. This made a heavy supply last fall, and meat was so low a price that the oversupply was used up.

With the wholesalers paying more for their meats, retailers are obliged to do likewise, and the only alternative for the latter is to raise the prices, a thing the local butchers will regret to do, but it will be the only way out. Centre county has many farmers who raise beef cattle extensively and prices in Bellefonte may not be increased as will be the case in towns wholly dependent upon western meats.

ALDRICH BILL PASSES SENATE

Amendments are Adopted and Action is Taken

VOTE WAS 42 TO 16.

The Vote was Almost a Party Division Much Time Devoted to Bill.

PROBABLE EFFECT OF THE LAW.

Washington, March 28th The Aldrich currency bill was passed by the Senate Friday by a vote of 42 to 16, in the main a party vote. Previous to the taking of the vote on the Aldrich bill, a vote was taken on the Bailey substitute authorizing the government, instead of the national banks, to issue the emergency circulation for which the bill provides. The vote on the substitute stood 42 to 13, and this vote was entirely partisan, even Senator La Follette casting his vote with the Republicans. The bill has been before the Senate since January 9. The vote was not reached until 6 p. m. and the galleries were practically empty.

As passed the bill provides for not more than $500,000,000 of emergency currency to be issued to national banks upon deposit by them of state, county and municipal bonds to be approved by the secretary of the treasury. The currency is to be issued with a view of securing an equitable distribution of the currency over the United States and in accordance with the unimpaired capital and surplus of banks in each state. Banks are to pay for this emergency circulation one half of one per cent, a month during the first four months it is circulated and afterwards three-quarters of one per cent a month. The bill provides that national banks shall not pay less than one per cent on government funds deposited with them.

As amended today the bill carries an important change in banking laws relating to bank reserves. This amendment provides that the 15 per cent reserve required to be kept by banks not in reserve cities four fifths is to be kept in vaults of the banks, and of that amount one-third can be in the form of securities of the kind required.

Another amendment offered by Mr. LaFollette, prohibited loans by national banks to its officers or to any corporation the majority stock of which is owned by the officers of the bank. It was rejected as also was an amendment offered by Mr. Nelson of Minnesota, providing that no officer or employe of a national bank shall be a member of a stock exchange or engaged in buying or selling stocks or bonds on a commission basis.

Never a One Day President.

The periodic assertion is made that on Sunday, March 4, 1849, Senator David Rice Atchison of Missouri, who was then president pro tem. of the senate, was president of the United States "virtually." He never was, "virtually" or otherwise.

In 1793 congress enacted that in event of no president or vice president being ready to succeed the first office should devolve on the president of the senate and next on to the speaker of the house. The succession was changed in 1886. Now, Zachary Taylor and Millard Fillmore were in Washington on March 4, 1849. It being Sunday, they permitted an interregnum to follow until the next day. Mr. Atchison took no oath as president, and without taking such he could not exercise the office. Mr. Taylor could have taken the oath at any second subsequent to noon on March 4. No pompous inauguration is demanded. The chief justice need not administer the oath. Arthur took it in New York before Judge Brady at 2 a. m. and Mr. Roosevelt in Buffalo before United States Judge Hazel.

The "virtually" of Mr. Atchison is visionary unless by some bolt from the blue the elected officials had been removed.—Pittsburg Post.

Glory Everywhere.

A Methodist minister was much annoyed by one of his hearers frequently shouting out during the preaching, "Glory!" "Praise the Lord!" and the like. Though often reproved, the happy member persisted in expressing himself.

One day the minister invited him to tea and, to take his mind from thoughts of praise, handed him a scientific book, full of dry facts and figures, to pass the time before tea.

Presently the minister was startled by a sudden outburst of "Glory!" "Hallelujah!" and "Praise the Lord!"

"What is the matter, man?" asked the minister.

"Why, this book says the sea is five miles deep!"

"Well, what of that?"

"Why, the Bible says my sins have been cast into the depths of the sea, and if it is that deep I need not be afraid of their ever coming up again. Glory!"

The minister gave up hopes of reforming him.

A Daring Escape.

The annals of Sing Sing are full of daring escapes. A typical case was that of Pallister and Rohlf, two convicted murderers. By frequent appeals they had headed off the day of their execution, and at length decided on escape at any cost—even that of life itself. Late one night Pallister called for a drink of milk, and as the official on duty opened the cell door to give it him he was seized, dragged in and overpowered. The desperado then locked the officer in the cell and, after securing his keys, released his comrade Rohlf, when they in turn overcame and disarmed the second night watchman. This done, they offered release to three more prisoners with whom they had made friends. These declined the doubtful benefit, however, whereupon the two murderers climbed the skylight, reached the boundary wall and dropped to liberty by the broad Hudson, which they crossed in a small boat.—New York Tribune.

Up Two Stumps.

Little Johnny was in the habit of wanting more victuals put upon his plate than he could eat. His papa decided to break him of the habit. One day as Johnny insisted upon being served until his plate was well filled his papa said, "Johnny, if I give you this you will have to eat every bit of it or I will punish you." Johnny promised that he would, and bravely did the little fellow try to do so, but in vain. It was too much for him. He would try again and again and then look sorrowfully at his papa. Finally, laying down his fork, he said:

"Papa, if you was me which would you rather do, get a licking or bust?"

Our Language.

An intelligent foreigner is said to have expressed himself after the following fashion on the absurdities of the English language: "When I discovered that I was quick, I was fast; if I stood firm, I was fast; if I spent too freely, I was fast, and that not to eat was to fast, I was discouraged. But when I came across the sentence, 'The first one won one $1 prize,' I was tempted to give up English and learn some other language."

A Woman's Health

Is a heritage too sacred to be experimented with. For her peculiar and delicate ailments only medicines of known composition and which contain no alcohol, narcotics, or other harmful or habit-forming drugs should be employed. The one medicine which fulfills all these requirements is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a remedy with a record of over forty years of cures to recommend it; a remedy, the makers of which print its formula on every bottle-wrapper and attest its completeness and correctness under oath; a remedy devised and adapted to woman's delicate constitution by an educated physician—an experienced specialist in woman's diseases; a remedy, every ingredient of which has received the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar diseases; a remedy which has more bona-fide cures to its credit than any other sold by druggists for woman's special requirements. It is not given away in the form of "trial bottles" to be experimented with, but is sold at a fair price by all dealers in medicines.

Delicate, weak, nervous women should especially shun the use of alcoholic medicines which, from their stimulating and exhilerating effects may seem, for a time, to do good, but which from the inevitable effects of the alcohol in shrinking up the red corpuscles of the blood are sure to do great and lasting harm in the long run. Besides they beget a craving for stimulants which is most deplorable.

Only invigorating and nerve strengthening effects can follow the use of this famous medicine for women. It can not possibly do harm in any state or condition of the system. It has been carefully adapted to woman's needs by an experienced physician—a specialist in their diseases. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

If a woman has bearing down, or dragging pains, low down in the abdomen, or pelvis, backache, frequent headaches, dizzy or fainting spells, is nervous and easily startled, has gnawing feeling in stomach, sees imaginary floating specks, or spots before her eyes, has melancholia, or "blues," or a weakening disagreeable drain from pelvic organs, she can make no mistake by resorting to the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will invigorate and tone up the whole system and especially the pelvic organs.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Perscription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic, "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over-worked, "worn-out," run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

No woman suffering from any of the above symptoms can afford to accept any secret nostrum or medicine of unknown composition, as a substitute for a medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is OF KNOWN COMPOSITION and has a record of over forty years of cures and sells more largely to-day than ever before. Its makers withhold no secrets from their patients, believing open publicity to be the very best guaranty of merit.

Dr. Pierce invites all suffering women to consult him by letter free of charge. All letters of consultation are held as strictly private and sacredly confidential and all answers are returned in plain, sealed envelopes. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." They are the original Little Liver Pills first put up by old Dr. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equaled. They are tiny sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Life Guards.

The Life Guards are two regiments of cavalry forming part of the British household troops. They are gallant soldiers, and every loyal British heart is proud of them. Not only the King's household, but yours, ours, everybody's should have its life guards. The need of them is especially great when the greatest foes of life, diseases, find allies in the very elements, as colds, influenza, catarrh the grip, and pneumonia do in the stormy month of March. The best way that we know of to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sarsaparilla—the greatest of all life guards. It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most successful attack, gives vigor and tone to all the vital organs and functions, and imparts a genial warmth to the blood. Remember the weaker the system the greatest the exposure to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong.

Earning His Fee.

By COLIN S. COLLINS.

Copyright, 1908, by M. M. Cunningham.

"What are you doing here, Alma?" demanded Blake as he ran across his little hostess in the conservatory.

Mrs. Thearle lifted a tear stained face to Blake's. In spite of her three unhappy years as the wife of Osmund Thearle, who had obligingly drunk himself to death in the third year and left her with her youth and a round million of dollars, Alma still was pathetically a child in many ways.

"It's perfectly horrid," she said sobbingly. "I had planned to have this dance a sensation, and now"—

"It is perfect," declared Blake warmly. "Every one is saying that the arrangements could not be improved upon."

"That's just it," was the tearful response. "It was all going so nicely, and now that horrid Count Cazman has spoiled it all."

"He has been annoying you!" Blake's face grew stern, and his hands clinched. Ever since they were children together he had loved Alma. That this somewhat repulsive scion of nobility should offer her affront was not to be borne.

"He hasn't said anything to me," explained Mrs. Thearle, "but I don't believe that he is a count, for all of his splendid letters of introduction. He stole Bessie Vardon's bracelet. You know the one I mean, the one with all the diamonds. I saw him slip it from her wrist. She does not know yet. She thinks she lost it. I have asked her to say nothing about it for the moment, and I came here to think what I could do."

"Send for a policeman," suggested Blake grimly.

He was resentful of the count's manner toward Alma, and he would be glad to see the public humiliation of his rival.

"Heavens, I can't do that!" gasped Mrs. Thearle. "Don't you see, Paul, that if I should even accuse the count he would make a scandal, and that is the last thing I would wish for at my first entertainment since—since"—

"Since freedom came," Blake finished for her. Thearle's death had been a matter of congratulation to more than his widow.

"It's a sort of second debut," she ran on. "The count is a sort of star feature, and to have him discovered as a thief would be to make the whole affair a failure."

"So it would," agreed Blake, "and yet we cannot get that bracelet back without some sort of a scene. It's not fair to Bess to let him get away with the spoils. It's easily worth $20,000."

"I'd gladly pay Bess the cost," gasped

"I'D GLADLY PAY BESS THE COST," GASPED MRS. THEARLE.

ed Mrs. Thearle; "but, don't you see, I can't do so without explaining why I should make good her loss."

"And that would never do," agreed Blake. "The question is, What shall be done?"

"That's what I want you to tell," was the trusting answer. "You have never failed me yet, Paul, even when"—

Blake nodded. No need to put into words the memories of those troublous times when he had intervened to save her from the drunken whims of the man her parents had forced her to marry.

"I think I have an idea," he said after a moment of thought. "I don't suppose the count knows that you saw him?"

"I was on the other side of the room and with my back turned. I saw him in the mirror. He took it off Bessie's wrist and slipped it into the breast pocket of his coat."

"We used to have a lot of fun over my magic," Blake said reminiscently. "It's hardly the thing for a ballroom, but you might ask me to do a few tricks."

"And borrow the bracelet of the count?" she asked hopefully.

"Something like that," was the laughing answer. "I believe that you have a bracelet a little like Bess'. Well, put it on and lend it to me when I ask for it."

Mrs. Thearle clapped her hands. "I knew that you would think out some way," she declared. "Shall I ask you as soon as we get back to the ballroom?"

"In about a quarter of an hour," he explained. "Don't let it look too cut and dried."

Blake slipped out of the conservatory by another door, and his surprise was well simulated when he was asked to perform a few tricks. Mrs. Thearle had only to make the suggestion, for the other guests eagerly took up the matter. Paul Blake had at one time thought of going upon the stage, for he was a more than ordinarily clever performer, and only the unexpected inheritance from a great-uncle had headed off a professional career.

Of late he had refused all requests to perform in drawing rooms, as the demands upon his good nature had become too frequent, so there was the promise of novelty in his performance after two seasons of retirement.

He rapidly arranged his improvised stage with a couple of tables and such simple properties as he could obtain from his hostess, while the guests stopped dancing to crowd around and watch his really clever work.

"Here's a new one," he announced after he had performed a routine of familiar vanishments and appearances. "For this I want a piece of jewelry—a watch, a ring, anything."

A dozen articles were offered, for a number of times he had drawn upon the audience for handkerchiefs and other small loans. Without seeming to make any particular selection Blake took the bracelet that Mrs. Thearle offered and palmed it while he pretended to wrap it in a borrowed handkerchief, which he gave to Mrs. Thearle to hold.

"You are positive that you feel the bracelet in the handkerchief?" he asked, and Mrs. Thearle in answer to an almost imperceptible nod declared in the affirmative. Blake gave her closed hand a tap with the fan he used as a wand.

"Do you feel it now?" he asked.

Mrs. Thearle gave a well simulated cry of surprise and at Blake's direction unrolled the handkerchief to show that it was empty.

"If the count will oblige me by taking the bracelet from his pocket, Mrs. Thearle will identify it as her property," announced Blake, stepping toward the surprised foreigner.

Before the count could act he had thrust his hand within the pocket and obtained possession of the stolen bracelet. A quick pass and the bracelet which he had borrowed from Mrs. Thearle was in Blake's hand and the other was in his pocket.

Later the stolen property was conveniently found by a servant and handed to its owner, and Blake's trick was not thought of in connection with the find.

"It was beautifully done," praised Mrs. Thearle as he lingered after the rest had gone. "No one suspected. I just knew that if I accused the count he would insist upon making a scene. He is that sort of man."

"As it was, he found the trick a decided surprise," said Blake, with a reminiscent laugh. "It was worth the trouble just to see his face."

"It was worth more than that," was the warm response.

"I'm glad you think so," said Blake, taking possession of her hand, "for I am going to ask the highest fee I have ever demanded. I want nothing less than you, Alma."

"I think you have earned your fee," she said simply.

Loud Talking.

"Did you ever notice," he asked, "how foreigners always speak very loudly when talking with other persons of their own country?

"I mean that foreigners traveling about in this country conduct their conversations at the top of their voices. The same is true of them in restaurants, where they discuss the most private matters openly and loudly. They have abundant confidence that no one else will know what they are saying.

"I remember on one occasion being on the street with a young woman who knew Italian much more than I did. We passed several Italians who were walking along, and one of them, turning to his companion, made a remark about the young woman's personal appearance that wasn't exactly flattering.

"From her face I know that she understood. I turned about angrily, but she put her hand on my arm and asked me not to do anything, so we let it go at that."

"Yes," said the other man, "and if you ever have been abroad you will remember that Americans and English there are quite as free in their way of expressing loudly all sorts of opinions. It looks like a standoff to me."—New York Sun.

The Artist's Welcome.

The famous son was coming home to pay his mother a visit. He was a pianist, had been sent abroad by wealthy friends for a four years' course in his chosen art, had thereafter spent a year on the concert stage there and behind a vanguard of newspaper reports of his success abroad, both musically and financially, he was now coming home. When he stepped from the train at Plattsville his mother rushed to him. When she had reached him, however, she suddenly gave a gasp and stood stock still, staring at him. The next moment she burst into sobs and fell on his neck.

"Henry, my poor Henry," the poor woman cried, "they told me you were doing so well over there and makin' money plentiful! My poor, poor boy!"

"What's the matter, mother?" exclaimed the bewildered son. "What makes you doubt what they told you?"

"Oh, Henry," she cried, unappeased, "I kin see how you've suffered! You haven't been able to scrape enough money together to get your hair cut!"—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Book Evolution.

"Books" have progressed from the days when they were only wooden rods or bits of bark. For the derivation which connects "book" directly with "beech," both having been "boc" in Anglo-Saxon, is the favorite one. "Buchstaben," the German word for letters of the alphabet, means literally "beech staves." Many book words go back to such vegetable origin. The Latin "liber," a book, whence comes our "library," was properly the inner bark or rind of a tree, especially of papyrus. The Greek "biblon," whence "Bible" and "bibliophile," meant much the same thing. A "codex" was a block of wood, and "leaf" is obvious.

A Compromise.

A private soldier was taken to the guardroom for being intoxicated. He became excited. "Sergeant, am I drunk?" he asked of the "noncom" in charge.

"Yes—take off your boots," was the reply.

"But excuse me, sergeant," the delinquent continued, "I am only half drunk."

"Very well, then—take one boot off!" said his superior.—London Scraps.

What He Drew.

"I notice that you nearly always smoke when you are writing," said the caller. "Do you draw your inspiration from your pipe?"

"No," replied the horse reporter, "I draw smoke."—Chicago News.

He Got Plenty.

Hi Tragedy—Whew! Ranter must have found food for thought in the dramatic editor's article this morning. Lowe Comedy—Food? I should say a full meal. He got a roast and all his desserts.—Philadelphia Press.

Academy Wins Final Game.

The Bellefonte Academy star basket ball team certainly wound up the season in a blaze of glory Friday night when they defeated the Cascadilla school team of Ithaca, N. Y. by the score of 44—23. An immense crowd was present to cheer the home team to victory. The visitors likewise received due applause for their good work. Laderer, Meyers and Oberlin did great work for the Academy while Markle proved the star player of the visitors.

Cascadilla		Academy

Markle	centre	Aikens

Goals from field—Markle 8, Pettibone 2, Marshall 1, Laderer 7, Meyers 4, Oberlin5, Aikens 1. Goals from fouls—Laderer 10, Marshall 1. Time of halves 20 minutes. Referees—Barnes, Keichline.

The Academy has had a remarkable record this year—in fact it will match the best records made by the best "prep" schools in the country.

They defeated Tyrone, Williamsport High, State Scrubs and Cascadilla once, won both games from Juniata College "preps" and both games from Clearfield High school and lost the return games with Tyrone and Williamsport High School, losing the latter game at Williamsport by a single point.

Eight victories out of ten games played warrants the claim of the Bellefonte Academy basket ball team of 1908 as the best in the history of this successful institution. We are proud of you boys—here's a good hand-shake
